

We are pleased to inform you that our Department, formerly known as Applied Social Sciences, will be retitled as Department of Social and Behavioural Sciences (社會及行為科學系), with effect from 1 July 2018.

This new step is in line with the strategic plan of City University of Hong Kong to expand interdisciplinary research to address global challenges and to bring about impact for the enhancement of human living. We also notice that similar change of department title took place among many renowned universities in the United States and Europe. The new title will promote, sharpen and enhance the Department's reputation as the significant producer of professionals and researchers in social and behavioural sciences in this region. It will continue to house a vibrant quantum of more than 100 faculty, teaching, research staff and research students from Hong Kong and overseas.

Our phone and email contacts remain unchanged and the short abbreviation "SS" now stands for "Social and Behavioural Sciences". We hope to turn this new page with your continuous support.

Yours faithfully,

Prof. Wing Lo
Head
Department of Social and Behavioural Sciences
